

Shatkona

Hexagonal Wall Claddings

Shatkona is a Gujarati translation of hexagon or a six sided shape. Hexagons are one of the most naturally occurring shapes in nature. Six sided shapes offer a balance and union unlike other shapes and they also happen to be a highly efficient way to fill a space.

The Shatkona range of wall claddings is a highly versatile range. The orientation of the claddings can be changed to change the pattern created by them. There are currently 4 distinct designs that are available for production.

The range is available in all the colors from the BFT color palette.
